Patrick Brauckmann
CEO & President

BIO:

Mr. Patrick Brauckmann founded and financed Corazon Exploraciones SA in 2010. He negotiated and financed the acquisition of the Santo Domingo Concession and led the company in gaining its listing on the TSX-V exchange in January 2011. In addition to the executive responsibilities he remains in close contact with the key stakeholders in Santo Domingo and in the capital city of Managua, Nicaragua.

Company Profile:

Corazon is a gold exploration company with a primary property located in the Santo Domingo mining district within the heart of the B2Gold's producing La Libertad Mine in Nicaragua. This property embodies numerous artisanal mines where individual miners have been selectively exploiting gold-bearing quartz veins to shallow depths for centuries. To date, there has been no drilling or modern exploration applied to this property. Mapping and trenching of this concession was completed in December 2010 revealing over 15km of strike. Corazon is currently permitted to drill 90 exploratory holes. To date, phase 1 drilling has been completed with results revealing significant mineralization of gold.

CEOCFO: What is the focus and philosophy at Corazon?

Mr. Brauckmann: Corazon is focused on exploring and developing the Santo Domingo gold property as it is home to the oldest mining camp in Nicaragua and is wholly surrounded by B2Gold Corp's La Libertad concession, which hosts the largest open pit mine in Nicaragua. We have a very clear philosophy of working closely with the community closest to our projects to create a sustainable and profitable relationship.

CEOCFO: How did you decide on your projects?

Mr. Brauckmann: Two of our Board members are world renowned geologists and our exploration team is made up by three other geologists who each have world class discoveries under their belt. We are currently focussed on Nicaragua but review, from time to time, projects that may be accretive and are located in Latin America.

CEOCFO: Would you tell us about the geology and infrastructure?

Mr. Brauckmann: Corazon's concession is entirely surrounded by B2Gold's concession block. Corazon's property is 200 metres south of B2Gold's new Jabali vein discovery. December 14, 2010, B2Gold announced drill results from their Jabali vein that included 16.86 metres of 23.98 g/t gold starting at a depth of 102.31 metres. The Santo Domingo concession is characterized by a braided network of epithermal veins containing high-grade gold and silver values. The district lies within Tertiaryvolcanic rock of the Matagalpa and Coyal Formations, hosting intermediate sulphidation epithermal quartz veins. Up to 8 major veins and 20 distinct veins have been identified in recent mapping. The veins can be traced for up to 3 km along strike. The Vein systems swell to 50 meters combined width and are oxidized to a depth up to about 50 meters. Structures and vein hosted gold deposits appear to be a continuation of mineralized veins of the La Libertad district. Ongoing sampling continues to reveal high-grade gold and silver values at surface.

CEOCFO: What is happening on the ground today?

Mr. Brauckmann: We have just recently completed our first phase of drilling with 29 holes. We will be recommencing drilling in early November.

CEOCFO: What are the advantages and/or challenges of mining in Nicaragua?

Mr. Brauckmann: Advantages include the largest but least explored in Central America. The country has pulled more ounces of gold out of the ground than any other country in the region. Least explored as the turmoil of the 80's with the US/CIA intervention into country.

CEOCFO: Is security an issue?

Mr. Brauckmann: In a recent survey of Central America by the Economist magazine, Nicaragua with Costa Rica were rated safest country in the region.

Corazon is well capitalized and has sufficient funds to continue exploration for the foreseeable future. Our principal property is home to the original gold discovery in Nicaragua, which has seen local miners pulling high-grade ore out of the ground for generations. The property is also surrounded by the biggest producer in the country, B2Gold. We have more than 15 kilometers of quartz vein with gold values as high as 27 grams per ton in the veins tested to date. - Patrick Brauckmann CEOCFO: What is the financial picture at Corazon Gold?

Mr. Brauckmann: As of June 30, 2011 Corazon had approximately $8 million in the bank.

CEOCFO: Will you be looking to add additional properties?

Mr. Brauckmann: Yes.

CEOCFO: How do you reach potential investors?

Mr. Brauckmann: In a variety of ways including personal and group presentations, out of town marketing trips, media relations outreach, and social media.

CEOCFO: Why should investors pick Corazon out of the crowd?

Mr. Brauckmann: Corazon is well capitalized and has sufficient funds to continue exploration for the foreseeable future. Our principal property is home to the original gold discovery in Nicaragua, which has seen local miners pulling high-grade ore out of the ground for generations. The property is also surrounded by the biggest producer in the country, B2Gold. We have more than 15 kilometers of quartz vein with gold values as high as 27 grams per ton in the veins tested to date.
