Medical Marijuana patients looking for an online resource need to search no further than THCFinder.com!

With 18 states and the District of Columbia now having legal protections for medical marijuana patients here in the United States, there are a lot of new businesses popping up all the time. With some states having hundreds of dispensaries and compassion centers alone, it can be difficult for patients – especially new ones – to know where to go to find the best medication.

Fortunately, they have an incredible online resource at THCFinder.com.

Medical marijuana patients from coast to coast (and Alaska and Hawaii) can go to THCFinder.com any time of day to find dispensaries, collectives, compassion centers, doctors and more near their current location. They can even find MMJ businesses on the go with the THCFinder app for Apple devices and now for Android phones and tablets as well.

Not only that, but patients can see reviews of each business from other patients, so they can get a feel for a dispensary or doctor and compare them to others. They can also see great daily deals from medical marijuana businesses nearby – or get deals sent straight to their cell phone - and even search for certain strains if they already have an idea of what they want, plus see reviews of those as well!

If copious reviews and pinpoint locations still aren't enough, medical cannabis patients can head over to the patient forums at THCFinder.com to seek advice and discuss their options with over 58,000 other MMJ patients. They can find out all about different strains and what ailments they help, get all their cultivation questions answered, learn about different ways of ingesting medical cannabis or just interact with tens of thousands of people just like themselves.

Everyone can keep up-to-date with the latest in medical marijuana with THCFinder's marijuana blog, plus see great strain and "smoking piece" pictures along with funny and uplifting images from around the web.
